DARING DAYLIGHT ROBBERY

TEETH MARKS ARE CLUE TO GIRL'S SLAYER

Impressions of Wounds Are Taken By Police of Los Angeles

SCORES IN SEARCH
FOR THE MURDERER

Reward of $1000 Is Offered for the Arrest of Brutal Fiend

LOS ANGELES, May 24.—The Board of Supervisors today offered a reward of $1000 for the capture of the murderer. Chemists are to make a careful microscopic examination of the clothing of the girl in the hope of finding finger prints that will make easier the identification of the slayer
if he be caught.

LOS ANGELES, May 24.—What may prove to be the most important means of identification of the murderer of little Annie Poltera was made known today when the detectives and surgeons who made a minute examination of the body of the little girl, announced that the two mysterious marks on the cheek and abdomen of the victim were made by the teeth of her slayer.

Impressions were taken of these marks and are said to show such individual characteristics that the owner can easily be identified by means of them. Pictures of the cast will be printed on circulars and sent broadcast throughout the country. It is asserted that there is no doubt but that identification can be accomplished from these casts.

Scores in Search

LOS ANGELES, May 24.—An unrelenting quest for some clue to the identity of the slayer of little nine-year-old Annie Poltera is still going forward but today five days after the discovery of the crime there appears as little evidence in sight as at the beginning. The sheriff's force is concentrating its efforts on the location of the men who were seen in the park at the same time the little school girl was travelling her way home. Scores of persons are still pursuing the search and it is expected that additional arrests will occur today. Various arrests have resulted in nothing.

Cars and Autos

Kill One; Hurt 37

CHICAGO, May 21.—Street cars and automobiles figured in numerous accidents yesterday in which a woman was killed and many other persons suffered injuries. The fatalities occurred when the victim, Mrs. Elizabeth Kane, fell from a moving street car. Thirty-seven persons were injured in automobile accidents. A Southport avenue car ran into a man walking and he was injured. An automobile and an Irving Park boulevard car collided. Fifty persons saw a girl of ten years run down by an automobile at Seventy-third and Halsted streets. The girl's right leg was broken and she was internally injured.

Queen Made Ill

By Speeding Autos

MILAN, Italy, May 24.—Much anxiety is felt concerning Queen Margherita's health. For five days she has been confined to her bed by mysterious swellings of the muscles in her neck which cause her to exhibit violent spasms. Frequent injections of morphia specialists disagree on the means as a means of relieving the pain. It is supposed it arises out of an anterior vertebrae during long high speed in motor cars. The queen can not turn in bed without the aid of her attendants.

Boy Shoots at

Cloth; Kills Bride

PLANT, Mich., May 21.—Arthur Moffitt, ten years old, at this city while walking along the river bank with a rifle yesterday shot a bird with a rifle bullet which struck the bride in the back and killed her. The bride was Mrs. Mary J. Smith, wife of John Smith, a local merchant. The bride was a bride of a few months. She died in a few minutes. Young Moffitt was so affected after the incident that he had to be placed under restraint to prevent him from carrying out threats of suicide.

HOLLAND'S LITTLE PRINCESS TO WEAR AMERICAN SHOES

BROCKTON, Mass., May 24.—The tiny feet of Holland's baby princess are to be housed in American soft soled shoes—the most costly infant shoes that were ever made in this country. They bear the stamp of a Brockton firm and the future ruler of the little Dutch kingdom will not want for shoes for there are seventeen pairs in the order just finished.
In one of the seventeen pairs the lining is a piece of satin from Queen Wilhelmina's wedding gown. Another pair is made of cloth of gold. One pair is of cloth of silver and still another has the finest white Parisian tulle.
Broadcloth that costs $100 a yard in the piece has been used for one or two pairs of the tiny feet covering and beautiful silks made up the material in others. In some too the finest calico that the market affords has been used.

SHOOTS TWICE AT FRUITVALE OFFICER

Drink Frenzied Man Assaults
His Wife and Deputy Constable Sheehan

BROKE INTO HOUSE AND SUBDUED MAN AFTER FIGHT

Nelson Came Out of the Fight
With a Fractured Jaw and
Is in Jail

FRUITVALE, May 24.—After an alleged assault on his wife and threatening her life with a revolver Antonio Nelson of Constock avenue fired two shots at Deputy Constable Dave Sheehan shortly after 11 o'clock this morning. Both bullets narrowly missed the officer. Sheehan broke down the door of Nelson's home and after a terrific fight with the drink-maddened man broke his jaw with a blow from his fist
and succeeded in disarming him.
After Sheehan had disarmed Nelson the latter procured a sharp knife and made a desperate attempt at suicide.
He succeeded in making a flesh wound
on his throat.
Mrs. Nelson alleges she was driven out of her home at 1 o'clock this morning by her husband who had been drinking heavily. This morning she ventured back into the house and the drink-crazed spouse again tried to assault her.
She managed to get to the telephone and Deputy Constable Sheehan arrived just in time it is believed to save her life. Mrs. Nelson said they had quarreled because her husband had been drinking for the past month and she has been continually in fear of her life.
When Sheehan arrived at the house
this morning in response to her frantic telephone message he heard her loud cries for help and demanded entrance.
Nelson refused to admit him and fired
two shots through the door.

Bodies on Beach

Tell of Accident

SEATTLE, May 21.—John H. Williams, manager of the New Western Shingle Company, a mill at Lowell, Wash., and formerly deputy city clerk of Everett, H. B. Sheehan, formerly of the mill and Frank Putnam, a mill hand, were drowned near Lewis and Clark islands
last night. The men set out in a yawl to intercept the steamer Whidbey and it is supposed the steamer struck or swamped their boat. Nothing was known of the accident until the men's bodies were found on the beach.

Merchant Dies

Alone in Tent

SAN JOSE, May 21.—Edward Corbett, a local merchant, died in a tent in the woods near San Jose. He was found by a hunter who had been out for a month. The man was found alone in the tent. He had been suffering from a long illness and had been in the tent for some time.
He was found with a bullet wound
in the chest. The bullet was found near the tent. The man was found alone in the tent.

For Days Earth

Constantly Shakes

ONAKA, Mex., May 21.—The shaking which has been felt in this State for several days past still continues. The shocks have been light and no great damage has been done. The earth trembling is almost constant, however, and a serious shock is feared.

THREATENS TO DO INJURY TO GIRL'S MOTHER

Will Do Her Bodily Harm, So Declares Keeper of Asylum

PARENT SICK FROM
WORRY OVER MATTER

Love For Pretty Ward Is Cause of Trouble in San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, May 24.—
"I will never give up Sadie Alvers to her mother. If Mrs. Nathan attempts to get the child away from me I will do her bodily harm."

That is the threat made by August Weinmann, who keeps an asylum at 407 Diamond street while he discusses the efforts of Mrs. Anna Nathan to regain possession of her six-year-old daughter Sadie through a suit filed in the Superior Court and which is being heard by Judge Graham. Weinmann threatened bodily harm during a conversation had with Miss Katharine Kerrigan, probation officer of the Superior Court, who had been assigned by Judge Graham to investigate the asylum and to report on the conditions she found and the merits of the dispute between Weim-mann and Mrs. Nathan.

Mother Is Sick

Miss Kerrigan has completed her investigation and her report was made to Judge Graham this morning. It will be part of the proceedings that will come up on Wednesday when Judge Graham will decide whether the mother of little Sadie or the Weinmanns will have the custody of the child.

Mrs. Nathan denied herself to all callers this morning except her sister and her mother. Her physician warns that her condition may make it impossible for her to appear in court.
Weinmann, the mother, declared she would continue the fight if it is necessary to bring her to court on a street.

Mrs. Nathan was forced by poverty to place her child in the asylum and daughter with the Dutch Asylum and from that organization the child was sent to the asylum kept by August Weinmann and his wife who have taken this means of earning a living.
Weinmann is blind in one eye.

Mind Poisoning

Mrs. Nathan charges that Weinmann and his wife have tried to poison her mind and that the child's mind had been poisoned against her.
She declares that she is able to care for the child and that her ability brought before Judge Graham. She says the child, not yet five years old, is a bright, intelligent and very much in love with her mother.

The Weinmanns refused to let the mother back into the home claiming that they were going to adopt her because the child has won their love.
Mrs. Nathan on April 15 last made an unsuccessful attempt to kidnap the child from the asylum.

The child's screams brought her teacher to the rescue and Mrs. Nathan was forced to give the child back into the keeping of the Weinmanns.

When seen this morning Mrs. Kerrigan was on her way to a post to the court. She had the following to say.
"I find that the child Sadie Alvers is afraid of her mother because of an attempt to poison her mind. The child has been raised without any knowledge of her real mother's identity and thinks that Mrs. Weinmann is her mother. The child was even frightened of me and it was only after much persuasion and that I succeeded in getting her to talk with me that she told me the truth."

The little one seemed fond of the mother and that was the only thing she had to say. I think the child has not been taught to fear her mother
but she has never been told who her mother was and this coupled with the attempt to kidnap her has made her afraid of her own mother.

I think that the other children are healthy with the exception of Sadie, and that the others who have been taken from their mothers and placed in the asylum would be benefited
by the application of more soap
and water and a little more ventilation and that it would be proper that they all be taken away and placed in a good home. I think the child is not in the hands of the Weinmanns but in the hands of the State and it is my duty to see that she is not in the hands of the Weinmanns but in the hands of the State.

I will ask Judge Graham that he assign Miss Kerrigan to look into the Eureka asylum end of the case.

MAN-HUNT BEGINS IN WEST

Government After Train Robbers With All Its Secret Service Men

HARRY MOFFITT IN CHARGE OF DETECTIVES

State and County Officials to Aid in Search For Desperadoes

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—Operating under the strictest of a closed order and every man heavily armed, all of the secret service men of the west are working in an effort to get some definite clue to the origin of the train to rob
the Overland Limited that was successfully consummated by a band of train robbers late Saturday night with in the city limits of Omaha, Neb.

They have begun their work with the theory that the home was located in this city, and that the desperate robbers had some resort or house in San Francisco as to the whereabouts while they were awaiting the information that told them when to strike to make the richest haul.

Clever Criminals

The band they are after is composed of some of the most daring men in the business which they follow—men who can take possession of an automobile in a big city and keep the machine for $150,000 worth of a stolen mail. It will be brains against brains, cleverness against cleverness and perhaps guns against guns in this latest of government man-hunts that has been on in many a year. Nothing will be left undone to land the robbers in the penitentiary. Not a man will be spared in the chase.

San Francisco will be the base for the man-hunt. All orders issued by the United States government will be carried out in this city and the men who are to be hunted will be hunted from this point. Besides the government operating in this city and other big cities on the coast will be the cooperation of the sheriff in this state and very soon the United States government will be actively engaged in the work of running the robbers down but the operation of this will be world wide for the United States government has issued the order to hunt the train hold-up men in every state. This is the first time the greatest man-hunt that has ever been conducted is now on in deadly earnest.

Moffitt in Charge

From this end of the country Secret Service Agent Harry Moffitt will pull the wires. Word has come from the capital that the man in charge of the work with him will be Jack Nelson, one of the most daring and one of the best secret operatives in the service of the government.
All day the two men have started on the hunt. Before taking up the hunt Moffitt conferred with Chief of Police Jesse B. Cook and secured that officials of two men have been detailed from the detective bureau of the local police department and they will work in harmony with the secret service men. The gets will be drawn here. A thorough report embodied in minute details will be had on every man in California who could in any way have had anything to do with the bold robbery in Omaha.

Gillett Appoints Dr. Parkinson

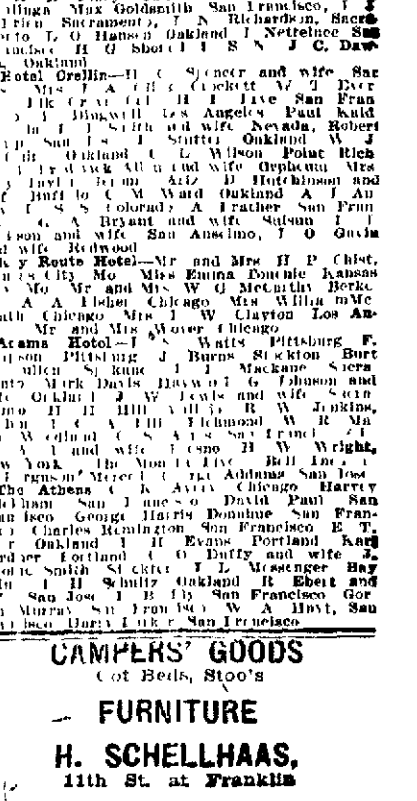

SACRAMENTO, May 21.—Dr. James H.
Parkinson was appointed by Governor Gillett today as the fifth member of the new board of state medical examiners.
Dr. A. C. Hart, Dr. E. C. Hart, a member of the Sacramento City board of health and his brother, Dr. J. H. Hart, are recalling the public in addition to giving some of his attention to civil affairs.

WANT BRIDGE OPERATED BY ELECTRICAL POWER

Resolution by Supervisor Bridge, Passed by Board, to Be Sent to the War Department.

Supervisor Bridge this morning succeeded in getting the Board of Supervisors to endorse the project of having the High street bridge, which was partially destroyed by fire a few days ago, operated as a drawbridge by means of electrical power and appliances, and that Col. Bridge, the United States engineer, be requested to make the improvement at the same time that the repairs made necessary by the late fire are made.

Plans of Mr. Bridge

Mr. Bridge says that eventually the bridge in question, as also others in the vicinity are to be taken over by the county and he desired to have them in the best possible condition for the sake of the county.

Resolution Passed

"Whereas the 'Tidal Canal bridge" constructed and owned by the United States Government, and spanning the Tidal Canal at High street, and known as the High street bridge, was partially destroyed by fire on the 21st day of May A. D. 1909, and,

Electric Power

"Be it resolved, by the Board of Supervisors of the county of Alameda, that they recommend to Colonel John Bridge, the engineer in charge of this district, that when said High street bridge is repaired, the same be placed in such condition that it may be operated as a drawbridge by the use of electric power and appliances."

"Be it further resolved, that a copy of this resolution be sent by the secretary of this board under the seal of said board, to the said Colonel John Bridge and to the War Department at Washington, to Senator George C. Perkins and Honorable Joseph R. Knowland."

Miss Russell Rivals Mrs. Phipps For Dancing Honors at Orpheum

RUSSELL BROTHERS AT THE OAKLAND ORPHEUM.

(BY BETTY MARTIN.)

If a musical program be any indication there will be no lessening of the Orpheum attendance this week, though the bill, a whole, differs markedly from the one just ended there being a preponderance of masculine talent.

Miss Zella de Lussan, appearing in and her repertoire of songs as well as a different gown, well-deserving of that popular name, "the Parisian dancer." On Sunday evening she surprised and delighted her audience by that always welcome song from the Bohemian Girl, "I Dreamt That I Loved in May." Following, she sang "Supposing Spring Has Come," and in response to enthusiastic hand-clapping, a song in lighter vein, but her stanzas were not content until she had given "La Paloma," which, as usual, brought down the house.

Two Juggling Acts

There are two juggling acts, not in the least alike. The Five Normans continue their work in the main part of the Orpheum, which are handled with remarkable dexterity. This work is rendered doubly effective through a circumstance quite apart from skill, yet necessary to success in stage work. For the color scheme employed is most attractive, the white-garbed and black-shod jugglers, standing in contrast to the flame-red skirts shooting through the air.

Francis O'Brien, assisted by a young page with the lively antics of a jumping jack, combines acrobatic stunts with musical interpolations which are good enough to start on their own merits regardless of the twenty-four somersaults while playing the concertina. The xylophone playing, consisting of the overture from William Tell, exhibited real musical ability.

La Valera Has Rival

The fascinating little dancer, Mrs. Phipps, who gives new interest to her act, has a counter attraction this week in Clara Bonifant Russell, whose graceful dancing fell short of perfection largely because of defective bad ground. Van Norman, in the role of "The Servant Girl," the vehicle chosen by the Russell Brothers to portray character delineations. These men in women's clothing manage to keep the laugh in a room every minute they are on the stage, and their work is too well known on the coast to need comment.

Mr. Frederick Allen presents an act called "The Phantom Spectator," and so long as the acting is confined to Mr. Allen himself, he holds his audience. But with the appearance of Miss Bertha Allen, the work loses its appeal. The ground is lost and the play is flat. This young lady is not possessed of sufficient charm, either of speech or manner, to keep up the illusion. She is most unconvincing, too, and, largely because of that, what should make her an interesting feature fails to hold attention.

"Cupid at Work," that sparkling satire, in which Miss Allen and her partner, the Phantom Spectator, are the stars, is among the hold-overs, which also numbers the Minette Tams and Clay Smith.

FIRE IS CAUSE OF SMALL PANIC IN THEATER

Films Burst Into Flames and Spectators Fight to Gain the Open

WOMEN IN STREET USE FISTS ON BOY

Accused Him of Causing Wild Stampede By His Loud Cries

A role of films caught fire at last night's performance at the Melrose Theater, and the audience of one hundred or more persons, made up mostly of women and girls, stampeded to the side walk. The operator rushed from his room in the gallery crying "fire" and immediately the place became the scene of the wildest confusion.

In their haste to escape death by fire men and women jostled each other, and many of them forgot the children in their path.

Women Beat Boy

After regaining the street, several women attacked a youth, whom they accused of starting the panic by his loud cries. They beat him with their fists and for a time there was danger that the rest of the mob would join in the combat.

Finally Manager Scott and Assistant Manager Sawyer, after a long time, explaining that the blaze had been extinguished.

The accident occurred just before the 10 o'clock performance. The theater was crowded when the cry of the rang out and the panic-stricken mob rushed toward the exits. An alarm of fire was turned in, but before the Melrose fire department arrived, the blaze had been put out.

WANTS 'TO CALL DOWN' WITNESSES

"They Are Swearing My Neck Away," Declares Religious Fanatic

KANSAS CITY, Mo., 21.—During the trial of Max Sharp, the religious fanatic for the murder of Patheon, Michael Mullane, today, Sharp arose and said:

"Judge, I want to have something to say in this trial. I am being tried for my neck here and I don't want any blood on my hands. These witnesses are telling different stories from what they told at the preliminary trial. They ought to be called down for it. I want to do it myself also is going to. They are swearing my neck away."

The judge said sharply: "Tell your objections to your attorney and let them present them to the court. My lawyers won't follow instructions," Sharp said. "I told them to call these witnesses down and they won't do it."

HURLED FROM AUTO BY CAR

Mrs. A. Baird Lands on Her Head When Vehicles Come Together

HAYWARD, May 24.—Mr. and Mrs. A. Baird of Elmhurst, while in their runabout, Saturday night, were struck by an east-bound Hayward car at the corner of Jones avenue. Mrs. Baird was thrown to the street, striking on her head and elbow. She is not seriously injured. The rear end of the machine was badly damaged.

Baird places no blame on the street car company for the accident, saying that his automobile became uncontrollable and stopped in the middle of the track in front of the approaching car.

GRANT REQUEST FOR AUTO RACE

Supervisors Give Permission to Hold Two Days' Endurance Run in County

The Supervisors this morning granted the request of the Automobile Endurance Association of California to hold an endurance contest in this county May 30 and 31. The request was to the effect that it was desired to hold an endurance contest over the road from High street through San Leandro, Mt. Eden, Alameda, Contra Costa, Irvington, Warm Springs and return via Mission San Jose, Niles, Fremont, the boulevard and High street and San Leandro. Commencing at 2 p. m. Sunday, May 30, and ending at 2 p. m. May 31.

It is set forth that speed would be used only between towns and the law would be obeyed when going through towns. Permission was asked for the holding of the run.

Request Granted

The request was granted at the instance of Supervisor Bridge. He did not understand the run was to be a speed race. It is obvious that a week ago, was to run because it destroyed the road.

Supervisor Horner said that it was his opinion that the run would not run fast in the proposed contest because it was to be a test of endurance and not of speed.

There was no opposition to Bridge's motion. With respect to the request of the same club of a week ago to conduct a special contest in this county, a communication was received from C. W. Galt of San Francisco, protesting against the granting of permission to any club or body of men to hold an automobile race over the roads of the county.

The clerk said that he had a communication from the same association to the effect that it had appointed Arthur H. Watson to address the Supervisors regarding the proposed race. Supervisor Horner said that Mr. Watson was at the board-room earlier in the morning but had gone away, requesting that the matter go over till next week. The request was granted. Supervisor Bridge said that he was opposed to such a race.

ALCOHOL GIVEN TO YOUNG BOYS AND IT KILLED THEM

NEW YORK, May 24.—Two 9-year-old boys, who were passengers on the Hamburg-American line steamship Kaiser, Alameda, which arrived yesterday, died on the voyage from acoholic poisoning. They were Herman Schmidt and James Kasilub, and traveled with their parents in the steerage.

On May 12th both boys were taken sick with identical symptoms. They complained of pains in the stomach, and without consulting the ship's doctor, their parents dosed them with liquor.

That evening when their condition grew worse the ship's doctor was notified. Both boys were found to be suffering from alcoholic poisoning. The Schmidt lad died the next day and Kasilub on May 17. Both were buried at sea.

FRACTURED HER LEG IN FALL THROUGH SYLIENT

SAN FRANCISCO, May 24.—While hanging clothes on the roof of her home, 215 Fifth street, this afternoon, Mrs. William Klingensmith fell through a skylight and fell fifteen feet to the floor of a room beneath. Her screams of pain attracted the attention of her neighbor, who called to the Central Emergency Hospital, where it was ascertained that she had suffered a compound fracture of the right leg. After the treatment the patient was held for observation.

ACCUSES PRETTY GIRL OF THEFT

Detective Embarrassed by Finding Girl Undressed Under the Bed

Jennie Robertson, accused of taking $15 from C. Hanson, an employee of Tillman & Bendel, who resides in Berkeley, had her case continued by Police Judge Smith this morning for two days to allow her to get an attorney. Hanson, who is a married man, is alleged to have given his affections into the keeping of Miss Robertson. While their friendship was at its height, Hanson stated that $15 was taken from him.

Detective McSorley was directed to arrest the young defendant. He went to her house at the corner of Fifth street and Grace street last Saturday, but was nearly baffled for, when he arrived there he ascertained that Miss Robertson was hiding under the bed minus her clothing. McSorley was mentally on seeing a pair of bare feet protruding from beneath the bed but finally persuaded the young lady to don her clothing, revealing the fact.

Hanson has been attempting to secure the return of his money, failing in that he swore out a warrant.

BULLETS FOR AUTO DRIVERS

Such an Order Was Issued Today to the San Jose Police

SAN JOSE, May 21.—Bullets will stop speeding automobile drivers within the city limits of San Jose hereafter unless the command of policemen and constables to halt are obeyed. The authorities have decided that they will file upon three of record making machines and, if necessary, file upon the drivers. This action will be taken to carry out the orders of Chief of Police Edward Huley. The instruction was given as a result of the week that resulted in the serious injury of Fred Wieman and J. J. Peters, whose car was smashed while they were attempting to make a new record from Oakland to San Francisco, via San Jose.

"I am determined that there shall be no more record driving through this city," said Chief Huley this morning. "The roads of San Jose and the vicinity are kept in excellent condition to the use of automobilists, but we are tired of the unsavory reputation the vicinity is receiving through the fire-raising and car wrecking and car breaking. I have issued orders that the speeding auto must be stopped, no matter what method is adopted."

"Speeding motorists are violators of the law. They deserve no more consideration than any other person who violates any other law. Hereafter officers will command the law breakers to halt. If the command is obeyed, the officers will take no further action. If the command is disobeyed, the officers will stop the car and issue a criminal charges warrant. But the speed limit must be stopped. That is final. I hope automobile owners and drivers will assist us in enforcing the law. They do not they will have to abide by the consequences."

RACING AT HOPFENGARTEN

Racing began at Hopfengarten Sunday. The crowd was large and rather blue-nosed, as the air was wintry. Fashion and color in the dress were furnished mainly by the uniform of officers, who were numerous. There were a few women in modestly pretty fashion, but there were many in shirt waists and knit wool jackets, wearing spring hats out of tune. From a Berlin letter to the New York Herald.

Two Monster Locomotives Are on Way West

The Most Powerful Locomotive Ever Built to be Used by the Southern Pacific Company in the Mountains of California. The Huge Engine Weighs 300 Tons.

Two of the latest locomotives in the Nevada, from the Baldwin Locomotive Works at Philadelphia, for the Southern Pacific company. These mammoth engines will be used for crossing the mountains between Roseville and Truckee.

The type of mechanism used is an enlarged reproduction of the Swiss-Italian locomotive called "Mallet Articulated Compound." The latest idea combines two engines in one boiler. The front engine turns on a fulcrum pin of seven-inch diameter, made fast in the new engine. As a result a sharp curve may be rounded without and under the load on the rail. The rear engine has the high pressure cylinders, each of twenty-eight inch diameter, and the forward engine has the low pressure cylinders, each of a forty-inch diameter. Each cylinder has a thirty-inch stroke. The tubes connecting the exhaust of high to the receiver of low are universally joined together with a ball joint, so that they may swing with the motion of the two engines. There are eight driving wheels on each side of fifty-seven inch diameter, both equipped with two wheeled leading and trailing trucks.

Monster Engine

The boiler is eighty-four inches in diameter, with fire tubes twenty-one feet long, thus giving a heating surface of 2201 square feet. It is equipped for oil fuel. In front of the combustion chamber is placed a feed water heater, fed by two injectors which keep it constantly filled. A superheater is arranged in the smoke box and connects with the pipings system between the high and low pressure cylinders. The exhaust pipes from the latter is joined with a T-shaped joint to a flexible pipe leading to the smoke box. This keeps the pipes in perpetual contact at whatever angle to the line of motion the boiler may be.

As a matter of convenience for facilitating repairs, the boiler is constructed with a separable joint placed at the rear of the combustion chamber. The tender is designed in accordance with associated lines standards as have also most parts. It has a 1000 gallon water capacity and 2550 cubic feet of capacity. The entire weight of the engine and tender is 556,000 pounds. This gives a tractive force of 34,410 pounds. As a whole, this monstrous machine has a fine and symmetrical appearance.

WOMAN MANIAC BATTLES WITH DEPUTY

Fights and Screams All the Way From This City to Ukiah Asylum

LANDS WITH BOTH FEET ON CHAUFFEUR

Also Delivers Sound Right to Neck of Officer's Friend

Struggling continuously and to the limit of his physical ability for four hours to keep his charge under control and today he safely in the insane asylum. Deputy Sheriff George Sturtevant encountered the task of his life on Saturday while he was transferring a woman maniac from the localizing hospital in this city to Mendocino. She fought him like a lioness from the moment they started on their round-about trip until he finally delivered her over to the authorities at the state institution, and then, during the journey when he had it not been for the assistance of outsiders, the lunatic might have overpowered her custodian and done as she wished to herself.

Frail in Appearance

Miss Marie Quesso, a middle-aged Italian woman, whose family resides at 1155 Union street, of a figure and slight of stature is the unfortunate person who made things so lively for the deputy sheriff. When taken to the receiving hospital, a couple of days before, she was in a highly agitated condition, and pending the disposition of her case in the superior court she made night and day hideous with her wild shrieks and her incessant screaming. A physician friend, that constantly harassed her, Judge Olsen issued a writ for her commitment and Sturtevant was assigned by Sheriff Burnett to take her to Mendocino.

The deputy left the hospital with his charge about 4:30 o'clock and started to the asylum via the San Francisco ferry and the ferryman, who was in charge of the boat, was a man of a very different type from the one who was in charge of the boat. The ferryman was a man of a very different type from the one who was in charge of the boat. The ferryman was a man of a very different type from the one who was in charge of the boat.

Carried on Boat

The transfer from the train to the boat was attended by great excitement. Sturtevant had to enlist the assistance of several policemen in effecting it. It was a very difficult task, but he managed to get her on the boat. The maniac kept up the battle all the way across the bay and when the ferry ship was reached the deputy sheriff was almost exhausted.

By this time Miss Quesso seems to have got her second wind. She was shouting and screaming and was a very different type from the one who was in charge of the boat. The ferryman was a man of a very different type from the one who was in charge of the boat.

When the woman reached the sidewalk in front of the Ferry Building she escaped a gentleman bending over his automobile. Something had happened to the mechanism of the machine and he was crying to adjust it. But the maniac cared nothing for this. All she noticed was the lovely mark that his attitude displayed for a good hunt. She with disheveled hair flying and a veil that started the hundreds of persons surging in and out of the building, she gave a leap into the air and shot her legs out in front of her with terrific force. The heels of her shoes landed squarely on the target and jammed the auto man's head up against the machine so hard that he dropped it. He was a very different type from the one who was in charge of the boat.

Lands on His Neck

But this was not all the physical damage Miss Quesso did to the man. She landed a blow on his nose and he was crying to adjust it. But the maniac cared nothing for this. All she noticed was the lovely mark that his attitude displayed for a good hunt. She with disheveled hair flying and a veil that started the hundreds of persons surging in and out of the building, she gave a leap into the air and shot her legs out in front of her with terrific force.

What have you here? he asked. Sturtevant told him the story and the man was about to say something sympathetic about the wild-eyed creature before him when she let drive with her right arm and hit him on the head. The blow on the left side of the neck which sent him reeling in on direction and his hat in the air. She then the result of her first attack. She was a very different type from the one who was in charge of the boat.

All the way from San Francisco to Ukiah, she kept the battle up and when the Northwestern Pacific train to Mendocino she made matters so warm for Sturtevant that finally he was forced to take her down in a seat. She completely wrecked one car seat shattered a window pane of the coach and torn almost all her clothing off besides making a pretty about as miserable and weak as a pugling with her as possible. Sturtevant was a greatly relieved deputy when finally he succeeded in delivering his charge.

FIRST CANTELOUPES OF SEASON AT EL CENTRO

EL CENTRO, Cal., May 24.—The first crate of canteloupes from Imperial Valley for the season consisting of sixteen melons was shipped from Heber today to Los Angeles. The melons were grown by D. G. RAGERS IN AUTO SERIOUSLY INJURED

Steering Knuckle Breaks and Machine Crashes Into Eucalyptus Tree

F. J. WISEMAN AND J. J. PETERS ARE HURT

Car Was Going 65 Miles an Hour When Serious Accident Occurs

In an effort to break the automobile record from San Francisco to Los Angeles, F. J. Wiseman and J. J. Peters, two of the most daring drivers in the east, were seriously injured today when their car crashed into a eucalyptus tree. The car was going 65 miles an hour when the accident occurred.

Tells of Accident

Peters was taken unconscious to the City Receiving hospital at San Francisco. Wiseman, who was driving the car, was taken to the hospital in a private car. The car was damaged beyond repair.

Beats Own Record
Wiseman was out to beat his own record made Sunday a week ago. This he accomplished as far as San Francisco was concerned, but he was unable to complete the journey.

Guests to Rescue
The crash brought a crowd of half-dressed ruffians rushing from the Hotel Vendome. Both men were picked up in a car and hurried to the hospital.

FLOODS CARRY HOMES AWAY; 4 DEAD

Woman and Three Children Swept to Death While in House

FOUR DAYS' RAIN
END IN CLOUDBURST

Northeastern Oklahoma Visited By Storm Which Does Great Damage

OKLAHOMA. At least four lives have been lost and others are endangered and thousands of dollars' damage has been done to property by a flood that poured today in the northeastern part of Oklahoma. The result of four days' continuous fall of rain, which fell in places culminated in a cloudburst.

The dead are Mrs. W. W. Down and her three little children who were carried down stream with their farm house from near Forker. The bodies have not been recovered. Several others in the same vicinity were forced to seek safety on top of their houses. All streams are tank full and still rising rapidly.

Three or four bridges principally on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas road, have been damaged, demoralizing train service on that line and crops have been washed out.

BRITISHER LIKES OUR CHARMING WOMEN

NEW YORK, May 24.—"The American woman is the most charming in the world," said Alfred East, "ergo she is the most charming."

East is the president of the Royal Society of British Artists and was appointed British member of the International jury which made awards of pictures in the International exhibit held recently at the Carnegie Institute in Pittsburgh.

"I believe that the American women make altogether the best and most interesting companions for men," was East's frank declaration. "They are the most charming and so, of course, the most charming."

"I do not for one moment wish to seem to disparage Englishwomen, my countrywomen. They are adorable. But the women of this country have a certain self-reliance, an independence of body and mind that can be found nowhere else in the world."

HAVE SENT TERMINAL CASES DIRECT TO COURT

ST. LOUIS, May 24.—Disagreeing, two against two on the government's suit to dissolve the Terminal Railroad Association of St. Louis, the judges of the United States Circuit Court have certified the case direct to the United States Supreme Court. Judges Sanborn, Van Devanter, Hook and Adams sat on the case. The suit was brought in Nov., 1906. The complaint was a consolidation of parallel and competing roads and ferry and bridge companies, engaged in interstate commerce and acting in violation of the Federal statutes.

The Proof of Virtue.

"Why did Calhoun employ a man like John H. Helms? inquires an interior contemporary. That is a double-edged question. Why did Burns employ him knowing his character? Calhoun might say that he did not know what sort of a man Helms was, but Burns could not allege any such excuse. He employed him at a wage of ten dollars a day and expenses and sent him to get re-employment with the United Railroads and betray the confidence there reposed in him. Moreover, the United Railroads did not employ Helms as a witness. It was to be a witness mainly that Burns employed him.

Helms was at different times employed by the United Railroads and the Albe Ruel and while he was serving those interests he was denounced by Burns and the Call and Bulletin as a "thug" and a base wretch generally. But now when he appears as a hired agent of Spreckels and Burns to confess on the witness stand that he is a scoundrel and a traitor, the public is asked to believe that he tells the truth and that his present employment is honorable. He is an illuminating product of the spy system, illustrating its degradation of character and its debasing influence on the administration of justice. Burns professes to be virtuously indignant that anyone else should bribe his employees to betray his secrets, but he has no scruple about bribing the employees of other men to betray their employers. His excuse is that he is trying to promote the ends of justice while those he conspires against are trying to defeat them.

It is an excuse as old as the human race. But the degraded character of his instruments is not changed by the professed purity of his motives, nor is the work they perform given the aspect of virtue by asserting that it is done in a holy cause. Moreover, he is being paid large sums for his work, just as are the tools he employs. He is doing his utmost to disgrace and convict the men Rudolph Spreckels bargained with "Big Jim" Gallagher for evidence against.

At the outset of his service with Spreckels he received a lump sum of $10,000, and for two years received something like $500 a month and expenses from Spreckels. His task was to get evidence that would convict several prominent citizens, the principal one being Patrick Calhoun. He is trying to make good. The methods he adopts to obtain the evidence to make good are obnoxious to the moral sense and iniquitous in the eyes of the law. These methods embrace compounding felony, espionage of a most hateful character and the employment of professed crooks and perjurers. He hires the base cattle with whom he deals to do things which are in themselves nasty and dishonorable even if not criminal by statute. Then he puts on the witness stand these morally rotten and debased specimens of manhood, and with the wages of their infamy jingling in the ears of the jury, asks that implicit credence be given to their testimony. They lied yesterday, oh yes, but they are telling the truth today! They were knaves and liars, it is true, but now they are honest men and truthful! They have repented and become virtuous!

Alas, their virtue began the moment they received immunity from punishment for their crimes or on the date they began to draw pay from Spreckels and take their cues from Burns. They have found it a safe and profitable graft to be good and work with Burns. Burns is not ashamed to march them through Coventry. They have not a shirt of honor to their backs, not a shred of decency to cover their moral nakedness, but they speak truth after confessing to Burns (and getting their pay) and receiving absolution. And so the business goes. It is one of great profit to men like Burns and Helms. It is a business that dignifies the thief and prostitute. If the higher courts do not give it approval so much the worse for them. They are to be classed with the unrepentant thief on the cross, and abhorred of all honest men like Burns, Gallagher, Helms et al. Such are the canons of justice under the new dispensation of Spreckels.

Hardwood Culture in California.

The Federal Forest Service has decided to experiment in Eastern hardwood culture in California. In soft wood production the State outranks all others in the country; but more than one-half of the one hundred and twenty-five different varieties of timber growth native to the soil is hardwood of inferior commercial value. Take, for example, its oak trees. The black oak is the only one of the species of special commercial value, and that only on account of its bark, which is valuable for tanning. The wood of live oak, white oak and black oak is practically of no value save as fuel, because it is so perishable in its character. White oak cannot be quartered and kilned and used for interior paneling in building or for the manufacture of furniture like the white oak of the East. Nor are any of the California oaks of value for shipbuilding, although they could supply abundance of knees in the construction of wooden vessels, for the reason that the timber dries quickly.

The only hardwood produced at present in this State, of any real value, is the Australian eucalyptus, which is a transplanted product. Its real value is, in fact, a recent discovery. Green, it is the softest and most brittle of woods; but seasoned, it has been found to be the toughest and most durable of forest growths, outranking hickory in this respect. Moreover, it has been recently found that the grain of the eucalyptus makes it one of the most valuable and ornamental of all trees for decorative interiors, and it promises to become popular for furniture manufacture.

But the purpose of the United States Forestry Service is to ascertain whether the more popular and valuable of the Eastern hardwood trees can be grown advantageously in this State, where the conditions for forest growth are so favorable. To that end experimental plantations are to be established on the national reserves. All of the Eastern hardwoods are hardy, capable of resisting the efforts of extremely low temperatures, which the eucalyptus family cannot survive. The latter cannot, therefore, be cultivated anywhere in the State above the frost line. But the harder hardwoods of the East, such as hickory, chestnut, red oak and other species will flourish within the frost belt more successfully, it is presumed, than in their native habitat, where the winters are longer and the conditions for rapid growth less favorable. If the experiments prove a success, which they certainly promise to do, they will constitute a valuable addition to the State's timber resources.

Trade men who hire boys to throw circulars and dodgers into people's yards not only perpetrate a nuisance but do very ineffective advertising. If they could hear the vigor with which they are denounced for littering up lawns and flower beds they would realize that they repel rather than invite patronage. A city ordinance prohibits the practice, but the police make little effort to enforce it; hence householders are constantly annoyed by the litter thrown over their fences under pretense of advertising. It is a form of petty outrage that ought to be stopped. Householders should make it a point to refuse to patronize tradesmen who fill their yards with rubbish. Of late the dodger and circular nuisance has become peculiarly aggravated. An on the worst offenders are Japanese who commit a double violation of the law by wheeling on the sidewalk while tossing waste paper into people's yards.

Stanford's New Mining College.

The faculty of Stanford University has taken an important step toward putting its departments and curriculum on the same plane as the State University, by creating an independent college of mines out of the department of geology and mining. It is a wise move. But the astonishing thing about it is that it was not done long ago. There is, it is true, a close affinity between geology and mining, but mining engineering is a profession that is as independent of that of geology as it is of that of botany, although the three are co-related. The proof of the close relationship between botany and geology and mineralogy is aptly illustrated in Madera County in the neighborhood of Grub Gulch, where the auriferous mineralized zone is clearly as marked by the vegetation on the surface as it is proved by underground exploration. There the line between the barren granite formation and the mineralized zone is as distinctly defined by the natural surface growth, as if artificially limned, and the experienced prospector has no difficulty in following the line of demarcation.

Before the creation of the University of California, the California College, its parent institution, recognized, under Henry Durant's intelligent administration, the value of a special course in mining engineering, because of the exceptional conditions existing in this State in regard to the mining industry—conditions which differed materially from those in evidence in any other mineral-producing country, particularly as to that of auriferous production. The first graduate of the mining department of the College of California, Gardner Williams was chosen as the manager of the Kimberley diamond mine in South Africa, and later his son, who graduated from the California University College of Mines, succeeded him in charge of that property. The development of this mine is one of the most marvelous works of modern mining engineering.

This is, however, only one instance of many. Under Professor Christy's administration of the College of Mines there has at all times been standing orders—a waiting list, as it were—for mining engineers graduated from its classes to lucrative positions abroad. Every mineral-producing country on earth has drawn engineers from it. There is a standing demand for its graduates from the South African gold fields, Mexico, Central America, Peru, Chile and the mineral-producing regions of Asia have drawn from it, so that today the mining college of the University of California outranks the famous Heidelberg School of Mines.

The new departure in Stanford's University curriculum and college arrangements paves the way for that great educational institution to achieve similar distinction. Naturally, it will add to the fame of California abroad.

China Calls Portugal Down.

The Portuguese government is the latest of the European powers to be called upon by China to restore to her territory illegally occupied. Portugal is accused of having abused the concession of the town of Macao by gradually but illegally extending her sovereignty over adjacent territory and neighboring islands.

In 1557 the Portuguese obtained permission from the Chinese government to settle in Macao in return for assistance rendered in hunting down a pirate chief who had made his headquarters on the island of Hiang-shan. Macao is located on a small peninsula at the southeast extremity of the island, and on the west side of the estuary of the Canton river forty miles from the British colony of Hong-kong, which stands on the opposite shore.

Until the treaty of Nanking of August 29, 1842, was signed which ceded the island of Hongkong to Great Britain and opened the ports of Amoy, Fu-chow, Ning-po and Shanghai to foreign trade, the Portuguese government acknowledged Chinese sovereignty over Macao by paying an annual ground rent of 500 taels. The Chinese government also retained jurisdiction over the Mongolian residents of Macao. Subsequent to the signing of the Nanking treaty the privileges granted to Great Britain in it were extended by China to the Portuguese in Macao and by a series of successive aggressions Portugal has assumed sovereignty over the settlement and a large area of adjacent territory and neighboring islands. The Peking government has demanded the evacuation of the Portuguese from the territory thus illegally occupied by them. The Portuguese government wants to negotiate an amicable agreement; but China positively refuses to consider any such proposition. She has, moreover, succeeded in persuading the British government to interpose and Portugal will, doubtless, be required to contract her jurisdiction to the settlement of Macao.

Out of the ninety-five leading cities of the United States whose bank clearings are reported weekly by Bradstreet's, it is worthy of note that only ten of them showed a higher percentage of gain than Oakland in the bank clearings for the week ending Thursday as compared with the corresponding period last year. Oakland's percentage of gain was 37 per cent. This city, therefore, led eighty-five of the leading commercial cities of the country in the rate of the increase of its business last week as shown in these bank clearings comparisons, and it was the first city in the United States last year to recover from the financial depression which followed the bankers' panic of October-November, 1907, and spread all over the civilized world.

There is a great promotion revival in progress throughout the northern and central counties. The Sacramento valley boomers are to the front with an advertising fund of $40,000 which it is proposed to spend in disseminating information regarding the resources of the valley and the opportunities in it for settlement where it will do the most good. Oakland will be benefited by this valley promotion movement, for whatever directly benefits one section in the northern part of the State helps all others indirectly.

SCARED NEAR DEATH AND BALLY BRUISED

"Scared high into death," is the entry made at the Rockland Hospital, to describe the condition of Jim Rosen, a Greek waiter, residing at Seventh and Franklin streets, when he arrived there to have his bruised head fixed up.

Rosen became involved in a quarrel over a game of pool in the poolroom at 113 Eighth street, with some other Greeks, which terminated in a rough and tumble fight with heavy blows, billiard cues and whatever else in the shape of a weapon was handy.

For a few moments he moaned fast and furious, Rosen apparently receiving on his own head all the stray blows that were whizzed in addition to those aimed directly at him. He managed finally to get out of the place and beat it as fast as he could run to the hospital.

PLANING MILL IS SUED FOR DAMAGES

Jacinto Leonardo brought suit this morning in the Superior Court against the Sunset Lumber Company for $25,230 damages for personal injuries sustained at its planing mill, where he was employed, last December.

While Leonardo was engaged in "tailing off" lumber from a log, the machine became clogged and stopped running. He attempted to adjust the rollers and in so doing his left hand was caught between the rollers and the bed of the machine and dragged in to the knives, which amputated it above the wrist.

Grief Is Cause Of Breakdown in Noted Novelist

OWEN WISTER.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 21.—Owen Wister, the novelist, is seriously ill at his home here, it is reported. He is suffering from nervous breakdown brought about by stomach trouble, and though his condition today is somewhat improved, the change is not such as to relieve the great anxiety of his family.

John H. Mitchell, son of Mr. Wister Mitchell, is in attendance at the bedside of the sick man. Wister has been a sufferer for some years, but his condition did not become really serious until three months ago when he was compelled to take to his bed.

Owen Wister's mother who was a daughter of Henry Kenble, the celebrated actress, and who, herself, was a woman of much distinction, died about a year ago and her son has never survived the first shock. He became melancholy and morose after her funeral and it is believed that his grief is, in a large measure, responsible for his present breakdown.

He has been compelled to give up work on a play he was planning to produce this fall, and a new novel dealing with the stock markets of New York together with other literary projects upon which he was engaged.

GRAND BAND CONCERT IN PIEDMONT PARK

In spite of the many and varied attractions offered for the Sunday pleasure seekers on the south side of the bay, thousands of persons thronged in Piedmont Park yesterday afternoon and evening.

After the acceptance of an invitation from the military authorities of Alameda county to give a grand patriotic program on the eve of Memorial Day, Bandmaster Amund Thun of the Third United States cavalry band, first busied himself with a general plan of selections which would be attractive to all classes of music lovers. While engaged in this work the management of the park and the State purchased a large number of seats, which would be erected upon the hillside, facing the amphitheater. These, and the beautiful and appropriate decorations of lights and banniers would be placed in the theater and the grounds.

Also made in arrangements for a delightful social resource, to be held in the famous Piedmont Art Gallery for two hours before the band concert. As an additional feature, adding a final note to the festive character of the occasion, Miss Lydia Rutland, one of the most popular and capable vocalists on the Pacific Coast, has consented to appear during the interval and sing several numbers.

Business thousands of citizens who will undoubtedly participate in the Memorial day entertainment at Piedmont Park, the officers and soldiers at the Presidio are displaying an unusual interest in the affair, and it is expected that a large contingent from the military post will be present when the band begins to play. The "band" is universally popular amongst the army men who realize that they have the best musical organization of Uncle Sam's army or navy.

GETS IN WAY IF FIREMEN; IS HURT

When an alarm was turned in yesterday from box 227 for an incident fire in that neighborhood, Fred Perce, an Italian gentleman, who lives at 778 Forti-fifth street, was among the first persons on the scene. He got in the way of the firemen while they were stringing the hose and received a crack over the head with the nozzle that sent him reeling to the ground, and by the same token he directed his steps a few minutes later in the direction of the Receiving Hospital. Steward Platt dressed an ugly scalp wound for him on top of the "moodle."

One of the few dollars he had in his pockets, at the corner of First and Washington streets, by a masked thug with an ugly-looking revolver. He admitted that the highwayman accomplished the robbery without resorting to physical violence, and simply asked the steward to give him some sort of a brace for his shattered nerves.

He was told that about the only nerve he needed was to return to his station and sober up. Whereupon he went out into the darkness.

Fashionable Cuddlers of Dogs Are "No Better Than Cannibals," Says This Feminine Critic

MEMBERS of a certain fashionable set of the women of New York are a tormented, uneasy and inconsistent mob. They are the real "cuddlers" of the American nation, says Charlotte Harris in the New York World.

The unspeakable folly of these women in the taking over of a cut and bestowing upon it affection, care, time and so on, is that they are not from God. They are really here to be used.

When a man marries one of this kind he is handed a golden brick which he thinks is solid gold. For serious and high minded men such a woman would make as pleasing a life companion as a nail in a shoe.

I consider them in a light no better than cannibals. They consume human life by their wanton waste of wealth in many lecherous wrong directions. They live a life of a dangerously high pressure. They have drunk long and deep at the fountain of folly, and at some time or other they will have to pay the inevitable penalty. Their sole object in life is to be a perfect reflection in the "glass of fashion" to be on dress parade constantly, to live on the streets and in cafes; the safe habit is chronic among them; to be dined and wined, ride in everything from a hired to a borrowed automobile with a vicious, how-legged bull pup perched on their knees. Alas! the brutes need fresh air. Only their mistresses are the fit ones to give it them, while the infants and their children, if they have any, are handled over to some nurse or governess to spend every day of their young lives with.

The less fortunate child of the poorer class practically grows up by the wayside with the weeds—in many hundreds of cases unknown to the world. The starved little beggars. I wonder if one of these fashionable canine idolaters could ever shed a tear when they see any of these forlorn little children?

Our numerous orphan asylums, sheltering homes and day nurseries are crowded from pit to dome with parentless, forsaken or abandoned innocents in the great majority of cases. What their final ending will be when they at an early age are thrown out upon the world, friendless and homeless, to paddle along alone, must be to the serious minded individual be a grimly fascinating riddle.

Not long ago the daily newspapers printed columns about the anxiety of one of these modern fashionable over the illness of her pet poodle. How she had cherished a special train all the way from San Francisco, in an effort to save its life by expert treatment. The dog specialist employed pronounced its case hopeless and the pup died. After its death this quadruped was placed in a metal lined, white satin coffin, costing $500. Later her information to the press was that she intended to have a vault built to hold the coffin and its beast.

In sight of the fact that so many thousands upon thousands of poor infants and children are being placed in their rough wooden shells are shoved under the earth without even a numbered stake to show their burial spot whose lives might have been spared by a small fraction of this money lavished on their brutish about their necks. Is this the way to spend the money of a creature who glories in such vulgar display of wealth and notoriety a fit subject for legal restraint?

These hollow gossamer ease and an insatiable desire to outdo one another. In this class the drinking habit is too ordinary to be considered disgraceful.

I was resting one morning after a Turkish bath in a well known establishment downtown when a woman of the class I speak of came in. At first sight she seemed uncommonly good to look upon. Not a hair out of place, fashionably and richly gowned—two with their poodle sniffing about their necks. One of the very blond creatures, after divesting herself of all her clothes, including her undergarments—such as an armful of put's, a long fat rat resembling a butcher's hanging sausage, and a syringe, took the size of an elongated football—looked like a "before using" ad.

While most people were trying to rest, she was coming and slipping up and down the place in an effort to keep her four-legged "baby" from looking patient. This was the conversation between herself and her "precious" as she called it. "Ah, mother's little poodle doesn't like it here?" "Never mind, my baby gets a nice big plate of ice cream when he gets home."

Dog shows and baby shows—which is more liberally patronized. Dog shows, to be sure, who ever hear of a woman of this class going to a dog show? They simply mob the Garden at the canine exhibit.

There is absolutely no place for a great or good soul among these sharks of New York's social chaos. Take even the savages of the middle West—the Indian mother's love for her little one. This simply a life and death struggle for a reservation official to get a child away from its parents even for a few short years in order to educate it and bring it up according to the white man's notion of civilization. No matter how many miles over hot and dreary deserts the Indian mother travels, her infant is always in its little papoose-trunk on her back. But these near-savages of ours have reached the pinnacle of shame and degradation and ended in the suffering of the selfish.

American Prima Donna Who Hearts Lost; Heads Win; Widow Weds

MARGUERITA SYLVIA, the American Prima Donna, Who Has Been Singing in Paris for Several Years. She Has Just Separated From Her Husband, So It Is Announced, Because He Wanted Her to Quit the Stage.

PARIS, May 21.—Because she prefers the glory of an operatic career to the calmer joys of domestic life Marguerite Sylvia, a prima donna who was much applauded in America, has separated from her husband William D. Mann, formerly manager of the Herald Square Theater in New York. They separated by agreement and remain very good friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Mann have been in Paris several years. Soon after they arrived here Mrs. Mann was engaged for the Opera Comique, a theater subsidized by the government where American women have sung. Mrs. Mann appeared as Carmen at the Opera Comique for two seasons and won much fame throughout France for her rendition of that role, and of Santuzza in "Cavalleria Rusticana."

Mr. Mann went into the automobile business and into insurance here a year ago and has been very successful. His wife went on to the opera and, prospering in business, told him on his return that he was doing with theatrical life and would lead her to settle down and dwell with him most comfortably in Paris.

When the couple reached Wilmington they were met by Ruth and to the residence of the Rev. Alexander Allison, Jr., pastor of the West Presbyterian Church, where the ceremony was performed. Mr. and Mrs. Stevens are living in Philadelphia.

It was supposed the millionaire father of the bride would not become reconciled, but word reached here today that Mr. and Mrs. Yetter have forgiven the couple and have sent no formal announcements of the marriage.

Mr. Mann and I have parted irretrievably, said she to a correspondent today. "We agreed to this some time ago and have been living apart since then, but we are very good friends. Our only reason for separating is that of the dear old father."

LONG BEACH, Cal., Jan. 11.—A rancher from Spokane, came here six weeks ago and found board with Mrs. Fidelity Hanley, a comely widow from Wichita, Kan., who has been here three months. The little blind and beaming active and, according to both bride and bridegroom, yesterday both admitted their affection, and, discussing the length of time necessary for courtship, decided to trust to the test of a coin as to whether the marriage should be at once or later. He was for the bridegroom, and they were married by the Rev. Will A. Betts in record time.

After a trip to Kansas to get the bride's daughter Mr. and Mrs. Hanley will go to their home in Washington.

Sir Launcelot and Queen Guinevere

Like souls that balance joy and pain With tears and smiles from heaven again, The maiden Spring upon the plain Came in a sunlit fall of rain.

In crystal vapor everywhere Blue isles of heaven laugh'd between, And far, in forest-deeps unseen, The topmost elm trees gather'd green From draughts of balmy air.

Sometimes Linnet pip'd his sonnet, Sometimes the Linnet pip'd his song, Sometimes the throbbing whistled strong, Sometimes the sparrow wheel'd along, Hush'd all the groves from fear of wrong;

By grassy copes with fuller sound In curves the yellowing river ran, And drooping chestnut buds began To spread into the perfect fan Above the toiling ground.

Then, in the boyhood of the year, Sir Launcelot and Queen Guinevere Rode thro' the covert of the deer; With blisful treble ringing clear, She seem'd a part of joyous Spring; A gown of grass-green silk she wore, Buckled with golden clasps before, A light-green tuft of plumes she bore Clad in a golden ring.

Now on some twisted ivy-net, Now by some tinkling rivulet, In mosses mix'd with violet, Her cream-white mule his pasture set; And faster now the skimm'd the plains

Than she whose elfin prince brings By night to every warbling, When all the glimmering meadow rings With jingling bridle-poins.

As fast she fled thro' sun and shade The happy winds upon her play'd, Blowing the ringlet from the braids; She look'd so lovely as she sway'd, The rein with dainty finger-tips; A man had given all other bliss, And all his worldly worth for this, To waste his whole heart in one kiss Upon her perfect lips.

Her Husband a 'High Flyer'; SEEKS DIVORCE

SELF-EXILED

It is not that I love you less Than when before your feet I lay,
But to prevent the sad increase
Of hopeless love I keep away.
In vain, alas! for everything
Which I have known belongs to you;
Your form does to my fancy cling,
And make my old wounds bleed anew.
But vowed I have, and never must
Your banished servant trouble you;
For if I break you may mistrust
The vow I made to love you, too.

PHILADELPHIA.—Out in the Methodist Episcopal Home for the Aged the "family" of old persons in the institution will pay their tribute to Mrs. Elizabeth Wonderly, oldest white woman in the city, by helping her celebrate her 106th birthday.

Ice cream and cake will be served to this "family," consisting of 145 inmates of the home, and Mrs. Wonderly will be the guest of honor at the feast.

No one, talking to Mrs. Wonderly, would believe she had reached the 106th milestone in life. Her speech is unimpaired, her hearing but slightly defective and her eye is so clear even now that she can embroider.

In fact, her only regret is that she could not have "made a bird" for every one of the visitors who might come out to the institution on her birthday to congratulate her. By a "bird" Mrs. Wonderly means a canary done in bright orange on black goods, the result of two weeks of effort.

Every one about the institution marvels at the woman's skill with the needle. Some weeks ago Mrs. Wonderly walked along the promenade in a breeze for fifteen or twenty minutes and she caught cold. Consequently, her health has not been the best since then, but her appetite has not been impaired.

When oysters are in season I have some of them sent to my room. And cherry pie—I love it dearly. One of my friends sent me a cherry pie on my last birthday—the 106th—and I did not eat it.

They are sending the meals up to Mrs. Wonderly's room now. I was not long ago that she was able to come downstairs and enjoy her repast with the "family," but her joints have become stiffened, and she has rheumatism. Despite the heat, she ventured out of her room yesterday to spend a short time on the porch. Not more than a few weeks ago she walked for fifteen minutes without any one escorting her.

When this wonderful woman finds the hours rather monotonous she reads. And she says it is the same book—the Bible. She wants to finish reading the Bible, she explained, and she has reached the eighteenth or nineteenth volume.

"That is the best book in the world," she said, as her face lighted up. "The passages in it fit every circumstance of life. I can't remember enough of it. The Lord has been gracious and kind to me, and I know he is waiting for me to listen to the bird in the morning to light the bird in the morning. I feel about 5 o'clock in the evening. Often I stay awake as late as 7, but that is unusual. The days seem rather long."

She thought of "going to roost with the chickens," as she expressed it, took Mrs. Wonderly back to the home of her girlhood.

Her Father a Preacher

"My father was a Methodist preacher, and I can tell you that preaching was a different matter in those days than now. Every Wednesday and Friday was prayer meeting; every other night except Saturday there was Bible class. Father preached three times on Sunday and twice on Wednesday, and there were great crowds at all services."

"We walked to all the meetings. Wouldn't it be difficult for some of our girls today to walk that distance? And they are not compelled to pitch hay in the fields, as I was in my young days."

The centenarian is the daughter of Edward Wright Walker, a soldier in Washington's army, who lost his left arm in a battle in which the Washington was in command. Mrs. Wonderly referred patriotically and proudly to the fact. Mrs. Wonderly was born May 17, 1803, in Singam, Del., and she married Alfred Wonderly in 1848. She had one son born in 1850, who is now dead. She is a member of the Ebenezer Methodist Episcopal Church, in this city.

At the close of the conversation yesterday she said:

"I hope some one sends me some strawberries on my birthday, for I love them."

SERENADE

Ah, sweet! thou little knowest how I wake, and passionate watches keep;
And yet when I address thee now,
I think thou smilest in thy sleep.
Thou sweet enough to make me weep
That tender thought of love and thee,
That while the world is hushed so deep Thou'st perhaps awake to me.
Sleep on, sleep on, sweet bride of sleep,
With golden visions for thy dower,
While I in this midnight vigil keep,
And hies thee in thy silent bower;
To me 'tis sweeter than the power
Of sleep, and fairy dreams unfurled,
That I alone, at this still hour,
In patient love outwatch the world.
—Thomas Hood.

Heiress Elopes With a Train Dispatcher

WILMINGTON, Del.—The elopement of the daughter of a millionaire railroad president to Wilmington with a train dispatcher of the Pennsylvania Railroad in Philadelphia, was announced today.

The marriage took place a month ago, but had remained a secret. The bride was Miss Sylvia Elizabeth Yetter, aged 21, daughter of East Stroudsburg, Pa., daughter of Milton Yetter, president of the Delaware Valley Railroad Company. The bridegroom was Almer Perry Stevens, aged 33, a chief train dispatcher of the Pennsylvania Railroad in Philadelphia.

The two had been engaged for some time, but the parents of the bride opposed the marriage, not wanting her to leave home. On the night of April 11 Mr. Stevens telephoned to W. H. Ruth, a Pennsylvania Railroad dispatcher here, asking for his co-operation in securing a license and carrying out a ceremony. Ruth was moved to keep the matter quiet for fear the parents of the young woman would learn of the plans.

When the couple reached Wilmington they were met by Ruth and to the residence of the Rev. Alexander Allison, Jr., pastor of the West Presbyterian Church, where the ceremony was performed. Mr. and Mrs. Stevens are living in Philadelphia.

It was supposed the millionaire father of the bride would not become reconciled, but word reached here today that Mr. and Mrs. Yetter have forgiven the couple and have sent no formal announcements of the marriage.

STRENUOUS BOWLING AS A MODERN WOMAN'S GAME

Since the advent of the Directoire styles, bowling, as a pastime for women, has been steadily on the increase. It is a matter of waist line.

Women can bowl better in the modern frocks, particularly in evening frocks, for they have the advantage of a couple of inches extra width around the waist which fashion before has never allowed them.

It is just these extra inches which make it possible to get enough strength and impetus to bowl well and to enjoy it in consequence. There is another reason why bowling has become so popular. Never in all the history of the world have women been fighting fat with so much determination. And bowling is one of the few congenial methods of reducing adipose while amusing one's self not exclusively with one's own sex.

For this reason bowling clubs for women have sprung up all over the country with the exception of every town and townships involving so much amusement that they frequently get into the courts to have their disputes settled.

Tells Mothers What Children Should Eat

NEW YORK.—The United States Bureau of Education, in the current issue of its Bulletin, lays before the public a detailed study of what school children should eat.

Miss Hunt would give a year's dietary manual, seventy grains of protein, seventy fat and 175 grains of carbohydrate. A good many anxious mothers should be peeked into every lunch basket, and it tells how many calories of heat every schoolboy should extract from his lunch basket.

The article was prepared by Caroline L. Hunt at the request of Elmer Ellsworth Brown, United States commissioner of education. In the Spayer School, a primary school of New York city set aside as a practice school for Teachers' College, every child from the kindergarten to the third grade is given a cup of milk and a graham cracker at 10:30 o'clock.

The children first rest for a few minutes with their heads down on their desks. A paper napkin is then placed on each desk and the milk and crackers are passed. Another napkin is given and used by the child. If the child is able to pay 25 cents a month for two loaves, but it is not to be used with the others, and the knowledge of his poverty is not allowed to reach the other children.

At the Hebrew Technical school, girls, also in this city, every girl receives a cup of milk a middle of the forenoon and a graham cracker at 10:30 o'clock.

Miss Hunt would give a year's dietary manual, seventy grains of protein, seventy fat and 175 grains of carbohydrate. A good many anxious mothers should be peeked into every lunch basket, and it tells how many calories of heat every schoolboy should extract from his lunch basket.

The article was prepared by Caroline L. Hunt at the request of Elmer Ellsworth Brown, United States commissioner of education. In the Spayer School, a primary school of New York city set aside as a practice school for Teachers' College, every child from the kindergarten to the third grade is given a cup of milk and a graham cracker at 10:30 o'clock.

The children first rest for a few minutes with their heads down on their desks. A paper napkin is then placed on each desk and the milk and crackers are passed. Another napkin is given and used by the child. If the child is able to pay 25 cents a month for two loaves, but it is not to be used with the others, and the knowledge of his poverty is not allowed to reach the other children.

ON A GIRDLE

That which her slender waist confined
Shall now my joyful temples bind:
No monarch but would give his crown,
His arms might do what this hath done.

It was my heaven's extremest sphere,
The pale which held that lovely deer;
My joy, my grief, my hope, my love,
Did all within this circle move!

HANDICAPPED

This Is the Case With Many Oakland People.

Too many Oakland citizens are handicapped with a bad back. The incessant pain causes constant misery, making work a burden and sleeping or lying an impossibility. The back aches at night, preventing refreshing rest and in the morning is stiff and lame. The back aches may give relief but cannot reach the cause. To eliminate the pains and aches you must cure the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Can you doubt Oakland evidence?

Mrs. W. H. Golder, 2218 Adeline street, Oakland, Cal., says: "I can say that Doan's Kidney Pills are the best kidney remedy on earth with no fear of contradiction. I have been a terrible sufferer from kidney trouble often for days at a time not having enough strength to move. My kidneys annoyed me greatly. I had headaches and felt tired all the time. My husband spoke so highly of Doan's Kidney Pills that I decided to give them a trial and procured a box. They cured me completely and I now feel better in every way. It gives me great pleasure to make known the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

THOUSANDS ARE AT IDORA PARK

Band Concerts and the Outdoor Shows Pleased All the Visitors

Big Sunday crowds are still the rule at Idora Park. The throng which invaded the spacious grounds of "The Park Beautiful" yesterday afternoon and evening was indeed a merry one. As usual, the Conway band was the center, or to be more exact, the background, for a vast army of music lovers.

The program rendered at both afternoon and evening concerts was of the same high standard as has marked the whole of the Conway engagement. All of the popular soloists were heard to advantage, and if applause counts for anything, were immensely enjoyed by the throng of listeners.

An agreeable surprise was sprung among the athletic attractions of Idora. The Bruno-Kramer troupe of European acrobats were introduced to Idora patrons for the first time yesterday. Their act was immensely popular with the crowds, and they received unmitigated applause. The Bruno-Kramer troupe artists still perform their daring feats upon their flying trapezes. The Bicketts give their last performance on Wednesday night. On Thursday the Six Aces will return for a limited engagement.

All of the concessions yesterday were running to capacity, from the immense skating rink to the peanut stands. The link is one of the most popular amusements on the grounds and never fails to have a merry throng of "roller devotees" on the floor, no matter whether it is afternoon or evening. Generally the winter months are considered to be the skating season in California, but one look into the big Idora rink disproves this theory. The children's playground was the Mecca for thousands of little tots yesterday who "colored" and built houses in the same way in the pool and flocked in the swings and on the teeter boards.

STUDIES LOCAL LIQUOR PROBLEM

Russian Scientist Here Compiling Statistics For International League

SAN FRANCISCO, May 24.—Count Louis Skrzynecki, the eminent Russian economist, is in this city as a representative of the Russian Ministry of Finance and the International League against the abuse of liquor. While here he will continue his work of compiling statistics of this "deep problem," said Count Skrzynecki, at the St. Francis Hotel. "You have tried every modern solution of the problem in your various localities—prohibition, local option, high license, the dispensary system and all the rest—but we hope, by comparing the results shown by the different methods adopted in different States, to arrive at some conclusion, based on figures, as to the apparently most successful answer to the tremendous liquor question. I cannot say yet what theory the league favors. Perhaps none of them will stand in a favorable light."

"This is not an emotional work which the Abuse of Liquor in nations. It is a scientific research, and its conclusions will be based on scientific principles. I am compiling statistics in this country on criminality, mortality, drunkenness and similar evils, which may have part of their genesis in excessive indulgence from the abuse of alcoholics, and I shall report, possibly in the autumn, to the International League in Berlin and the Russian Ministry of Finance in St. Petersburg."

SOCIALISTS STICK WARSHIP ON WAYS

Proletariat Accused of Preventing Launching of French Vessel

CHICAGO, May 24.—A Paris cable to the Tribune today says: "The failure to launch the battleship Danton at Brest now is ascribed to Saboteurs. The arsenal there is noted for the strong Socialist and anarchist spirit prevailing among the employees. The local Socialist organ published at midday yesterday, said: 'The Danton, destined to strew death broadcast, is to be launched this afternoon. The workers are refusing to lend itself to the performance. With the Danton leave its stocks? We shall know about 5 o'clock.'"

Before the attempt at launching the sections of the local exchange found aboard the warship and was expelled by the police. The workmen occupied with the preparations for the launching sang "Internationale" and "The Hymn to Anarchy" and were working a continuous taken together indicate the ship stuck on its ways from design rather than accident.

OKLAHOMA RIVERS ARE AGAIN GROWN UNSAFE

VINITA, Okla., May 24.—One of the heaviest rainfalls in northeastern Oklahoma in recent years has swollen Grand and other streams to the flood stage, causing much damage to railroad property and farms, and partially submerging the town of Vinita, twelve miles west of here, a portion of the trestle work of the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad bridge has been carried away. Other bridges are in danger and train service is demoralized. A terrible downpour, near Muskogee yesterday last night, following a continuous rain of four days, caused the Canadian and Arkansas rivers and their tributaries to rise rapidly. The streams and many houses were flooded. The rain continued today.

FALLS FROM CHAIR, GOES TO HOSPITAL

Edward Wright, a painter residing at 723 1/2 Bush street, fell drunk yesterday and fell down, striking his left side of his neck on the edge of a chair. He went to the Revolving Hospital, where three sutures were made in the laceration he sustained.

Maypole Dance by 17 Tiny Children To Be Feature of Benefit Lawn Fete

Unbounded enthusiasm is being shown in the lawn fete to be given on May 29 for the benefit of the Catholic Ladies Aid Society, No. 27, on the grounds of St. J. Keller residence, 471 East Twenty-seventh street, East Oakland. The members of the society expect to realize several hundred dollars from the affair. For many months the ladies have been working on the coming event. The May pole dance by seventeen little children and the crowding of the queen will be features of the fete. Banquets will be given by Mrs. Frances Keith during the function, which will be held by St. J. Keller, who will be accompanied by Frances Ray Butler. The program will be rendered by Miss Josephine Thompson, Ethel Schmitt and Mrs. Harold Knight. Among the attractions for the little ones will be the May pole dance, in charge of Mrs. Josephine Thompson, assisted by Charles Thompson, Richard Howard, Harold McDonald, T. Carmichael, Mary Sullivan, Maurice Murphy, Douglas Bailey and George Brasher. The Maypole and booth, over which Mrs. R. S. Keith will preside, will be artistically decorated in oriental fashion. Among those who will assist her are Miss Josephine Thompson, Ethel Schmitt, Miss M. Novell, Annie Lay and Max Stanton. A host of pretty young ladies will aid at the lemonade, ice-cream and candy booths. Some of the fair ones will act on the committee. Among those who will take part are Edna Engstrom and Miss O'Connell, Mrs. R. M. Pratt, Ethel Whitely, Hazel McCoy, Rosalie Phillips, Frances Keith and Adelaide Keller.

ATTACKS BIG SUGAR TRUST PUTS LYE INTO BISCUIT; DIES

Oklahoma Senator Denounces the Different Corporations in Bitter Fashion Takes Wrong Powder From One of Four Unlabeled Cans in Kitchen

WASHINGTON, May 24.—The so-called sugar trust was the subject of an attack in the Senate today by Senator Owen of Oklahoma, who said the sugar trust is a menace to the people. He said that millions of dollars have been stolen from the people of the United States. This fact is not mentioned by the leading newspapers of the city of New York, but on the contrary full page advertisements of the American Sugar Refining Company appear in lieu of the truth, which ought to be made known to the people of the United States. Consequently he asked to have the newspaper attacked and ordered that it might appear in the record, which was done.

Neighbors heard groans and poundings coming from the Barry's house yesterday morning and upon entering found the old couple in agony. Mrs. Barry died shortly afterward, and little hope is held out for her husband. Five unlabeled cans containing white powder were found in the kitchen. One contained baking powder and one contained caustic soda and this is what was put in the biscuits.

500 MILES OF GEORGIA ROAD TIED UP BY STRIKE

ATLANTA, Ga., May 24.—Not a train moved on the Georgia railroad yesterday, as a result of the strike of the white firemen against the employment of negroes. The tie-up is complete, except 500 miles of road, including the main line and branches.

The people have been deprived of mail and other conveniences depending on prompt running of trains, but are complaining for they have taken the part of the white firemen and by mobbing the negroes, have made the running of trains impossible. The situation was brought to a climax when Assistant Grand Chief Burgess of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers declared it was unsafe for the engineers to work with negro firemen and told his men not to go out. General Manager Scott has appealed to Governor Hoke Smith to order out troops, but it is doubtful if the negroes will do it.

It is stated that a party of strike breakers has reached Atlanta and that an effort will be made to send out a train after midnight.

MRS. SUSAN P. DOANE HAS PASSED AWAY

The death of Mrs. Susan P. Doane occurred at the residence of her nephew, Chester A. Norwood, at 616 Revere street, Berkeley, yesterday morning. Mrs. Doane is the last of a large family and has been a resident of California for the last forty-three years. She was a native of Eastham, Massachusetts. She was the sister of the late Marshall, Joshua, Micha and Netty Doane and the late Mrs. William M. Norwood.

CHURCH MUST ATTRACT MEN

You Can't Drive Them to Worship, Declare the Rev. E. R. Dille

SAN FRANCISCO, May 24.—"There is no ground for the assumption that men are drifting away from the church," said the Rev. E. R. Dille last night in his closing address to the men of the church at the annual conference of the church. He said that the church is not a place where men are being estranged from, but a place where they are being brought back. He said that the church is a place where men are being brought back to the fold. He said that the church is a place where men are being brought back to the fold.

SUSPECT FISH OF CAUSING CANCERS

So Many Caught With Disease in Gills That Investigation Is Begun

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 24.—An investigation is being made by the Buffalo State Cancer Laboratory to ascertain whether fish communicate the germs of cancer to human beings by their use as food. Dr. Harvey H. Gaylord, head of the laboratory, has announced that they are endeavoring to definitely discover whether cancer is thus communicated or whether the germs are in the water and the disease imparted in that way. "There is no certainty that cancer comes from fish," said Dr. Gaylord. "We are conducting a vigorous line of experiments, however, to find out. The discovery that cancer exists among fish was first made by a French scientist. A study of fish has proven that the disease is quite common among these species of animal life."
